

DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRONICS AND COMMUNICATION ENGINEERING PG RESEARCH LABORATORY

The research lab leverages the power of Software-Defined Radio and MATLAB to explore advanced wireless communication systems. This lab helps to work on a wide range of applications, including cellular communication, satellite communication, wireless sensor networks, and more

- This lab provides a platform to work closely with industry partners to identify the latest trends and technologies in wireless communication, and develop innovative solutions that meet the needs of industry and society.

