

Criterion I Curricular Aspects

1.4 Feedback System

1.4.1 Stakeholders Feedback Reports

“A quality sets the standard for success”, in order to promote and satisfy the needs of the stakeholders (students, parents, faculty, alumni, employer) the institution frames curriculum and syllabus based on their response. Every academic year, each department in the institution will collect the feedback from stakeholders about their current syllabus. The structured curriculum feedback mechanism evaluates the syllabus based on the following metrics such as comprehension of the program objective, course content reliability, knowledge acquisition, utilization of tools/assessment methods, flexibility of the course, path to higher education, and skills for employment and self-employment. Both the department and the institution analyze this feedback and take necessary action for further improvements.
