MASTER OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

OUTBOUND TRAINING

At the Department of Management Sciences, Outbound training is an integral part of the curriculum that fosters managerial and leadership skills through activity-based learning. Experiential learning offers many ways where business lessons in real life can be simulated through action learning, well researched games and activities that offers a chance to practice Learning by Doing.

This Leadership and Adventure program focuses on adult learning principles thereby by “Hands-on” approach to learning and believes that the learners learn best when put in unique and ambiguous situations. This outbound training is a pure reflection of our philosophy of “learning is fun”.

Out learners understand the power of collaboration, motivation, appreciation and conflict resolution within and across teams. Finally they overcome fear and embrace boldness to drive innovation in their work.
